Honorable Mayor and City Council
City of Litchfield
Litchfield, Minnesota

We have audited the financial statements of the governmental activities, the business-type activities, each major fund, and the aggregate remaining fund information of the City of Litchfield, Minnesota for the year ended December 31, 2009. Professional standards require that we provide you with the following information about our responsibilities under generally accepted auditing standards (and, if applicable, Government Auditing Standards and OMB Circular A-133), as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit. We have communicated such information to you in our engagement letter dated January 14, 2010. Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant Audit Findings

Qualitative Aspects of Accounting Practices

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by the City of Litchfield, Minnesota are described in Note 1 to the financial statements. No new accounting policies were adopted and the application of existing policies was not changed during 2009. We noted no transactions entered into by the governmental unit during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial statements in the proper period.

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The most sensitive estimate affecting the financial statements was:

Management's estimate of depreciation is based on the number of years an asset is in service. We evaluated the key factors and assumptions used to develop the depreciation estimate in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial statements taken as a whole.

Difficulties Encountered in Performing the Audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Corrected and Uncorrected Misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all known and likely misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. Management has corrected all such misstatements. Material misstatements detected as a result of audit procedures were corrected by management.

Disagreements with Management

For purposes of this letter, professional standards define a disagreement with management as a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditor's report. We are pleased to report that no such disagreements arose during the course of our audit.

Management Representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the management representation letter dated June 21, 2010.

Management Consultations with Other Independent Accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principal to the City's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditor's opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Other Audit Findings or Issues

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to retention as the City's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our retention.

This information is intended solely for the use of the City Council and management of the City of Litchfield, Minnesota and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

SCHEDULE OF FINDINGS ON ACCOUNTING ISSUES AND INTERNAL CONTROLS

We noted certain matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we consider being control deficiencies under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis.

INTERNAL CONTROL

The objective of internal accounting control is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance as to the safeguarding of assets against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and the reliability of financial records for preparing financial statements and maintaining accountability for assets. The concept of reasonable assurance recognizes that the cost of a system of internal accounting control should not exceed the benefits derived and also recognizes that the valuation of these factors necessarily requires estimates and judgments by management.

It should be recognized that within the City, an inherent risk is present with certain positions. It is very common for City's such as the City of Litchfield, to assign many major responsibilities to a few key individuals in an attempt to operate within limited budgets. The audit did not raise any specific concerns with any position. The inherent risk is again addressed only to maintain the awareness of the internal control structure and to encourage the Council's continual review of financial information at monthly meetings.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

The purpose of financial statements is to provide the users with insight as to the financial condition and the results of operations of the organization. In order to make financial decisions on a timely basis, financial statements must be prepared timely and correctly.

The following items are informational or areas of concern, which need to be addressed:

INVENTORY ADJUSTMENTS

Liquor store inventory is adjusted after cycle counts at various time throughout the year. We suggest these adjustments be reviewed by an individual other than liquor store personnel on a random basis to verify the extent of variances between the physical and perpetual inventory.

IMPROVEMENT PROJECT COSTS

During our review of projects, we noted there is no formal method for keeping track of costs such as labor and materials for projects completed by City staff. It is important to keep track of these costs in order to accurately capitalize the asset and make inventory adjustments. We recommend developing a spreadsheet to track project costs as they occur throughout the year.
